streamers of adiantum and coreopsis.
The six little ribbon holders were pre-tily in yellow organdy with bows of tulle to crown their dainty heads.
They were the little Misses Myrene Rich, Louise Eccles, Bertha Eccles, Lorna Wattis, Lorene Wattis and Blanche Seaworth.

The garden arrangement created an atmosphere of intimacy in its nooks and latticed pergolas and with unabated enthusiasm the guests at this beautiful wedding found expression in the dance while refreshments were served at small tables placed about the lawn. The table arranged for the bridal party was quite the prettiest ever seen and was perfectly set beneath band arches extending from opposite corners of the table and crossing in the center. These were formed of white satin and studded with lovely white peonies. A long, low mound of peonies with tulle and white and pink rosebuds graced the center of the table.

The Lillian Thatcher orchestra in its usual splendid manner played delightful music throughout the evening and when at the height of the dancing, the bridal couples appeared in the goingaway suits, played a lively air while the two couples danced their way to the automobile to take them to Salt Lake City where they later departed for Lake Tahoe and the western coast.

The grooms at this pretty wedding were two of Ogden's best known young men, Mr. Williams, a promising attorney, and Dr. Dumke holding an enviable position in the professional ranks.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were many and numbered among them are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard O. Me-chenberg, Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Baldwin, Mrs. F. S. Richards, Mrs. Joseph T. Richards, Miss Martha Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richards, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Eccles, Julian Bamberger, Miss Verna Samuels, Miss Mina Taylor, Mrs. Mattie McKay all of Salt Lake, and Mrs. Julia E. Mosnat, aunt of Dr. Dumke, from Dell Plaine, Iowa.

MYSTERIOUS CLUB

Mrs. Susie Griffin very delightfully entertained the members of the Mysterious club at her home on Grant avenue last Friday afternoon. The rooms were beautifully decorated with orange blossoms and roses, and a large bouquet of sweet peas formed the centerpiece for the dining table.
The usual games of 500 were played, after which a five-course luncheon was served. At 6 o'clock the club adjourned, vowing Mrs. Griffin a splendid entertainer. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Planz.

FIDELUS CLUB

The Fidelus club met yesterday with Miss Jessie Beeson when several interesting papers were read, the contents of which were on noted contemporary violinists. Miss Evelyn Nelson gave a delightful piano selection and Miss Helen Hunter rendered a difficult cello solo.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A few friends of Miss Vera Peterson were entertained at her home on Twenty-first street, complimentary to her eighteenth anniversary. The home was beautifully adorned with cut flowers. The color scheme, in keeping with the spirit of the times, was tastefully carried out. The national colors predominated everywhere. The tables were decorated with red, white and blue candles and tiny silk flags.
The home was lighted with clusters of red, white and blue incandescent lights.

Those present were Della Williams, Maude Healey, Helen Cole, Ruth Junk, Mildred Browning, Vera Peterson, Charles Sherer, Kenneth Riddiough, Lealie Mann, Albert Lustig, Norbert

Charles E. Layne Called By Death While Riding in An Auto in the Flood District

Stricken with heart failure in an automobile which was carrying him through the flood-devastated district north of Price, Utah, on his way to testify at the murder trial of Mrs. Be-sie Van Der Schult at Price, Patrolman Charles E. Layne, of 3285 Grant avenue, died about 3:30 o'clock this morning.

Accompanied by Officer Richard Pincock, Patrolman Layne was making his way as best he could over the automobile highway leading to Price, the roadway having been washed out by the flood which accompanied the breaking of the Price River dam. The machine had reached Emery, Utah, when Officer Layne, complained of feeling ill. He was rushed to a hotel but nothing that could be done to save his life was of any avail. He expired within a few moments.

News of his death reached Ogden in a long distance telephone message from Officer Pincock, who called the police station from Emery at 3:40 o'clock, telling of the sudden death of his companion. The family of Patrolman Layne was quickly notified of the veteran officer's death and arrangements were made to bring his body to Ogden.

Send for Body

Leo W. Goates, embalmer for the Larkin & Sons' undertakers, left on an early train for Salina, Utah, where the body of Patrolman Layne will be brought by automobile, and thence by train to Ogden. It is expected that the body will arrive here some time tomorrow morning when it will be taken to the Larkin undertaking parlors and later will be removed to his home, 3285 Grant avenue.

To Testify at Trial

Whether the trial of Mrs. Van Der Schult, charged with the murder of her husband, Berend Van der Schult, the former Ogden florist, will be materially affected by the death of Patrolman Layne, has not yet been learned. It is believed by local police officers, however, that the trial will go on, with Officer Richard Pincock as the only witness from the Ogden police department. It was explained that Patrolman Layne had been summoned more as a character witness than as a material witness in the case, and that his testimony would not differ from that offered by Officer Pin-cock.

Both officers had been called to the Van der Schult home in this city when Mrs. Van der Schult claimed her husband had threatened her life. It was to show that Mrs. Van der Schult's life had been endangered by her husband prior to the morning she shot him, that the Ogden officers were called to the trial, according to the local authorities.

News a Great Shock

News of Patrolman Layne's sudden death came as a great shock to police officials and other friends and acquaintances in this city. City officials, fellow officers and scores of business men spoke in the highest terms this morning of the dead patrolman, who passed away while on duty.

his friends. The evening was delightfully spent in music and games.

himer, Catherine Keller, Florence Thomas, Bessie Denkers and Miss Bunford and her sister Mabel.

UTOPIA CLUB

Mrs. Edward Olsen entertained the Utopia club on Friday afternoon at a lawn party. The decorations were in patriotic colors—and a luncheon was served to the twelve members present.
Mrs. Leo Madson, who for the past year has been the club president, and Chief of Police Thomas E. Browning said:

"Patrolman Layne was an officer and a gentleman. He was a fine fellow, loved alike by his fellow officers and his civilian friends. Big, robust, apparently in the best of health, he presented a fine appearance of physical well-being when he left here a couple of days ago. Yesterday, alive and well; today, dead and gone! It hardly seems possible."

Mayor Abbot R. Heywood said:
"The death of Charles Layne hits me pretty hard. I knew him from the first time I came to Ogden and have always considered him one of my warmest personal friends. It is a necessary for me to tell the people of Ogden what a splendid man he was. They know that already. It was a distinct pleasure to me a few days ago to be in a position where I could help to re-appoint him to the Ogden police force. News of his death is certainly a shock and a cause of sorrow to me."

Long Record of Service

Patrolman Layne had a long record of service in the city and county. After resigning from the old Utah-Northwestern railroad, on the first train of which road he was conductor, Mr. Layne was appointed to the Ogden police department. He was appointed to the force as a patrolman under Mayor John A.
Boyle on January 24, 1898, serving with distinction as an officer. He served two terms as sheriff of Weber county, and was one of the officers who formed the posse which tracked down Abe Majors, murderer of Police Captain "Billy" Brown in the late 90's.
Under the administration of Mayor A.
G. Fell, Officer Layne was top sergeant for four years. With the changes in politics of recent years, Officer Layne was out of office for a couple of years, but some months ago returned to the police force as a special officer. He was appointed regular patrolman at the meeting of the city commission Monday evening of the present week, June 25th.

Funeral Tuesday

Mr. Layne was a valued member of the Ogden lodge of the Woodmen of the World, and in the early days was one of the moving spirits in the municipal brass band to which he liberally gave his services.

The funeral will take place in the First ward meeting house, at 2 p. m., on Tuesday, July 3.

Patrolman Layne was 62 years of age and is survived by nine sons and
